

Expectra has partnered with IAT Technologies.

We are an international Australian based company that has developed an unique approach (process, tools and systems) that will enable organizations to develop, monitor, track and implement fatigue management for every employee in the business pro-actively (before entering the workplace) and whilst working ( real time ).

This approach allows intervention before and whilst employees are in the workplace – using real time measurement tools, processes and systems.

In summation, a total pro-active, real time fatigue risk management program.

Please visit <http://internationalalertness.com/> for more information

